MINORITY SCHOLARSHIP

For Graduate Training in School Psychology

Mission Statement

MSPA is aware of the need for a more aggressive approach to relieve financial pressures faced by minority students pursuing careers in school psychology. The MSPA Minority Scholarship Program was established to address this need in our Commonwealth's schools. To help foster and encourage diversity in the profession, the Association will annually award $2,000 to at least one qualified and select graduate student in school psychology.

MSPA believes that all students, especially those who are from minority groups, would benefit from the availability of more minority school psychologists. The minority population in the U.S. has been growing at a great rate. In addition, 45% of the Boston residents come from a minority group. However, the number of practicing minority school psychologists does not reflect these statistics. Many parents and students are requesting that the school psychologist reflect the population that they serve.

Professional preparation to become a school psychologist usually requires a full-time commitment and the stringent requirements result in a further reduction in the number of minorities who have the financial resources to pursue this career. One has to be able to afford both the tuition and living expenses-- a difficult situation for many minority students. Lack of funding and geographic access to these programs makes it difficult for minority students to pursue a career in school psychology. The scholarship program was established to address these concerns.
